

ANNA C. RUTIGLIANO
ATTORNEY

Professional Summary:

Ms. Rutigliano is an experienced litigator with experience in a range of construction, business litigation, biotechnology, and agribusiness matters. She has been a member of several trial teams on cases tried to verdict in both federal and state courts across the country, including a number of multi-week jury trials. Ms. Rutigliano also serves several pro bono clients. Prior to joining Martin Hild, P.A., Ms. Rutigliano was an associate at an Am Law 100 firm in Indianapolis where she focused on complex litigation and mass torts.

Admitted:

- 2015, Indiana
- 2020, Colorado
- 2015, U.S. District Court, Northern and Southern Districts of Indiana
- 2019, U.S. District Court, District of Colorado

Education:

- Law School: Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law, J.D., 2015 summa cum laude
- College: Indiana University, B.S. in Nursing, 2012

Certifications:

- Registered Nurse, Indiana

Recognitions:

- Indiana Lawyer Leadership in Law – Up and Coming Lawyer, 2019
- Indiana State Bar Association – Leadership Development Academy Member, 2019

Publications:

- Trial Counsel's Role On A Mass Tort Virtual Law Team, Co-author, Law360, March 2019

Professional Associations:

- Indiana State Bar Association – Indianapolis Bar Association – Forum on Construction Law

Representative Matters:

- Member of trial team that secured a complete defense verdict after a three-week jury trial defending a medical device manufacturer on claims of design defect
- Member of multiple bellwether trial teams in a multidistrict litigation
- Successfully obtained summary judgment in federal court on several tort and personal injury claims
- Substantial success on a variety of pro bono cases, including civil rights, prisoner rights, and education equity

